

Global Market Access for Toys

ONE-STOP-SHOP TESTING AND CERTIFICATION SOLUTIONS

With developing countries increasingly adopting Global Market Access (GMA) schemes, manufacturers and retailers of toys destined for these markets are faced with the challenge of meeting the demands of mandatory quality and safety certification.

With requirements varying nationally, there is a risk of non-compliance which can cause business disruption – costly border delays or product recalls. Developing countries markets are lucrative, but specialist knowledge is needed to access them successfully and the complexities of regulatory hurdles can be underestimated.
