

TransitNet: Customs Transit Made Easy For The Food Industry

POST-BREXIT, UK COMPANIES WISHING TO TRANSPORT THEIR GOODS TO AND FROM MAINLAND EUROPE WILL NEED A TRANSIT CUSTOMS DECLARATION.

In order for a company to submit a Transit Declaration, they need a comprehensive customs guarantee along with customs adapted software. Both can be difficult and expensive to obtain. SGS United Kingdom Ltd introduces TransitNet- a unique package that offers UK companies a multinational e-customs transit service that negates the need to have your own guarantee or software.

TransitNet is a multinational, multimodal e-customs service for transit where SGS acts as the Holder of the Procedure (HoP) for customs liabilities and extend the use of their guarantee and software to their clients (shippers, brokers, freight forwarders, etc.). SGS TransitNet is a user-friendly web based application which allows users to submit Transit Declarations to 24 National Computerized Transit System (NCTS) countries, Moldova and Belarus. Users also have the ability to control and monitor their Transit Declarations with real-time updates from local customs and NCTS systems all through one single window.

This new obligation can create challenges within the food sector. When food is the product being transported, time is of the essence.

SGS is supporting many companies within the food sector helping them with customs formalities, when moving their products into the EU from the UK.

By working with our UK based TransitNet client centre we can save on average 24 hours of transit time on each movement, which in turn lessens the impact on the products shelf life.
