SGS expands Digital Trust leadership with acquisition of Panacea Infosec in India

SGS, the world's leading testing, inspection and certification company, is pleased to announce the acquisition of Panacea Infosec, a global leader in information security. This strategic move reinforces SGS's commitment to accelerating growth and building trust in the digital ecosystem.

Headquartered in India, Panacea Infosec brings over 90 highly skilled cybersecurity professionals to SGS and serves clients in India, the USA, the Middle East and Africa. The company is recognized for its expertise in payment security solutions supporting PCI/DSS standards, as well as cybersecurity, data protection and privacy services. Its offerings ensure compliance with global security standards across diverse industries, including banking, insurance, telecoms, IT, business process outsourcing and e-commerce.

By integrating Panacea Infosec's capabilities, SGS strengthens its position in the rapidly expanding markets of payment security and information security assurance. This enhanced combined offering will help customers protect sensitive data, secure transactions and maintain compliance with international standards, fostering confidence in digital transformation.

SGS is targeting at least CHF 200 million in additional revenue from Digital Trust by 2027 compared to 2023, underscoring the strategic importance of this acquisition in driving growth and innovation.

Géraldine Picaud, CEO of SGS, commented:

"The acquisition of Panacea Infosec marks a significant step forward in our Digital Trust journey. By combining SGS's global reach with Panacea Infosec's deep expertise in cybersecurity and payment security, we are uniquely positioned to help clients navigate the complexities of digital risk and compliance. I warmly welcome all employees of Panacea Infosec to SGS and look forward to building our future together."
